Out & About

Babylon Fall Series

October 17th

Sometime last season, when this year's schedules were being assembled, I had the bright idea of volunteering the three flags-Dave, Roger and me-to be Race Committee for one of the series races run by Regatta Captain Aileen Eppig. I had never done it, and to me it was quite intimidating. Dave had done it at least once before, way back, and Roger claimed to know exactly how to do it (which, thank our lucky stars, turned out to be true).

We were assigned a mid-October race on a Saturday at Babylon. I volunteered my boat, and Dave and June and Helen and I left Patchogue early for the expected two and a half hour sail to pick up Roger at the BYC. One would think, given our magnanimous gesture, that the wind and water gods would be good to us. No such luck. We had an upwind slog all the way, motoring through endless waves (swells?), white caps and salt spray. When we got there, Silent P looked more like an explosion in a Diamond Crystal factory than a sailboat. The first thing I did was rinse off the boat. But it was a beautiful day; cool and crystal clear with northwest wind about 18 knots.

We had to be prepared for any contingency, including different classes if we had boats racing as spinnaker and non-spin, along with offset start times. The critical times that precede the start of a race come quickly, and you have to get it right, or you'll have to answer to Aileen. All week I studied the part of the yearbook dealing with racing. Dave showed up with a printout from the website that gave clear instructions. We all assigned ourselves different jobs, to make sure we didn't screw it up, and we actually did a practice run in real time along the way. As Race Committee, we had the responsibility not only to raise the various countdown signals, start the race on time and record the finishes, but it's also our job to select the race course and plant any marker buoys.

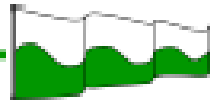

Well, it turns out that only three boats showed up, all non-spin, and they actually planted the lone buoy for us. On top of that, it was decided to start and finish the race using the BYC dock and the buoy as the starting line. So we never had to leave the dock!

My takeaway from all this is new respect for the racers, who come out in the worst conditions, squeeze every ounce of performance out of their boats, and end the race with a professional "thank you" when your horn blast signals their finish. Roger did know his stuff and Dave was a genius with the timekeeping.

Our Club has a long and storied racing history on the Bay, and that is something we should all preserve and promote.

ARE THERE REALLY ISLANDS OF TRASH IN EVERY OCEAN?

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT IT?

What is marine debris and what is being done to address ocean trash? Please join us for a conversation with Keith Cialino, the Northeast Regional Coordinator for the NOAA Marine Debris Program. He will present an overview of the program, its work in the Northeast and answer your questions.

The NOAA Marine Debris Program leads national and international efforts to research, prevent, and reduce the impacts of marine debris. Its staff supports marine debris projects in partnership with state and local agencies, tribes, non-governmental organizations, academia, and industry. The program also spearheads national research efforts and works to change behavior through outreach and education initiatives.

Everything in right time.

I have many virtues but patience is not one of them. To use a Downton Abbey phrase (Branson about Lady Mary), I'm a "bit in the teeth" kinda girl. But what 49 years of living couldn't teach me, one sailboat has. One Love and Sara (the Tohatsu outboard) have been able to teach me this profound message over the course of 2 seasons.

When I first started sailing, I was in various levels of panic throughout all our outings. Nonsailors would say to me, "oh you're so lucky to be sailing. It must be so peaceful." I would try to keep my poker face on since "peaceful" was the last adjective I would use to describe my sailing outings. I would reply, "actually, it's a mix of peace, exhilaration, panic, terror, awe and awesomeness all rolled into one outing." Each state of mind can, and does come unexpectedly and without warning. Each state of mind depends on the boat, the weather, my feeble knowledge and most important, the competence of my sailing partner.

If I had to raise the sail, I wanted to do it immediately. I was prone to premature jib line release, forcing us into a tack ahead of time. My sailing mentors tried to hold their tongues, but I'd be lying to say there weren't exasperated, muffled mini gasps on numerous occasions! I was unable to understand the concept that I couldn't go straight where I wanted to go. Back and forth...back and forth... I never seemed to go anywhere and once we tacked, I always felt that I got further and further away from my intended Fire Island harbor. It was all quite frustrating.

However, this season was different. One Love and Sara, over the course of this glorious summer of sailing the Great South Bay, taught me the value of patience...of waiting...of allowing sailing and life to unfold in right time. I like to sail to/from a destination. Because of my marina location and the overthetopgorgeousness of my favorite destination, Sara, One Love, sailing buddies and I visit Watch Hill several times a week. The channel is very long and seemingly narrow (especially to a novice!) and starts almost at Davis Park. My uber sailing buddies tend to prefer to sail as far into the harbor (or even the slip!) as possible before allowing Sara to do her job. Last year, in my high-anxiety mindset, I would want Sara in and sails down the nano second we would reach the channel markers. But like I said, that channel is long. It's a long way and so a good part of the trip would be under power rather than under sail. This season, I made it all the way to marker 5 before Sara would come on stage. I'd call that progress! The SW and even NE winds almost always made it possible to sail until the turn into the harbor and I never even needed to tack!

So what does any of this have to do with life? As an obsessed sailor, any time under sail is a good time. The silence of the Bay, the crinkling of the sails, the gentle lapping on the hull as we cruise along is what this sport, this lifestyle, is about. It's what moves us. Relaxing and seeing what's up ahead, extending the bliss time, not rushing to my destination is what I've learned this summer. Watch Hill is a slice of Heaven. It will wait for me until right time. It's the unfolding of the journey, gliding past the buoys as long as possible that provides the deliciousness of my afternoon trips and my life. No rush all in right time...with Sara as back up!

Black Friday Leftovers

Thanksgiving is the most anticipated holiday of the season. Mostly everyone has their own favorite, traditional recipes for everything from turkey, to side dishes, to pies. The leftovers, however, are just as treasured as the feast itself.

Typically, turkey is chopped and mixed with mayonnaise and served as a sandwich....but what if there were other ways to give leftovers a punch of WOW! Here are some ideas.

Turkey breasts in Chimichurri Citrus Sauce

This sauce is easy to make a few days ahead of time so you'll be ready to make Black Friday leftovers after you get back from shopping!

In a blender just combine the following ingredients and refrigerate:

- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 cup fresh lime juice
- 1 cup virgin olive oil
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons agave nectar
- Sea salt
- Hot pepper flakes (optional)

Take sauce out of the refrigerator and bring to room temperature. Lightly coat a griddle pan with a little sauce oil. Put pan on medium high heat and place the large, leftover turkey meat on the griddle pan. Allow the turkey to heat properly without cooking for too long. Once browned, drizzle the turkey with the Chimichurri sauce and serve immediately.

A Side Note: If your Thanksgiving is vegan, use seitan cubes in place of the turkey meat but allow them to marinate at least two hours before placing on griddle pan.

Thanksgiving Casserole

Ingredients will be all leftover side dishes + 1 cup of shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup Besciamella (Béchamel) sauce that you prepared two days ahead of time (optional)

Grease the bottom of a baking dish with butter and layer leftover stuffing covering the bottom entirely. Layer the mashed or sliced roasted potatoes next, again covering the stuffing totally. At this point repeat layering, one ingredient at a time until all leftovers are used. If you are using Besciamella sauce, drizzle it over the potato layer and again over the last layer. Sprinkle the shredded Cheddar cheese on top. Bake the casserole until all ingredients are heated well. Finish under the broiler for a few minutes until cheese becomes lightly brown.

Happy Thanksgiving to all!

Salty Sam's Flea Market is back

Let me remind you to collect your nautical items including books and bring them to the boat yard party on November 7th. Our experienced sales team will check them in. Please be sure your items come with a tag of the price you are looking to receive. The club will take only 15% of the selling price for this service. We start selling at 12 noon and will close down by 4PM. You will receive your money that day before you leave. If you would like to help sell items, please call Joyce Gotard at 516-541 2805 by Wednesday November 4th. No experience necessary and the benefits are good. Hope to see you there.

YEARBOOK REPORT

The Yearbook Committee met recently and established a deadline for getting everything in that will be going into the 2016 Yearbook -- February 1st, 2016. By that date, hopefully, the calendars for next season will have come together -- racing and rendezvous and events schedules, who will host what, and where. And by that date, all members will have received their dues notices, including reviewing the information that will appear in the yearbook -- not only names and addresses, phones and emails, but also information about your boats. When you get your dues notices, be sure to check and make sure that information is correct, and if not -- be sure to correct it! Because that's what will appear in next year's book.

Photos in the Yearbook - We depend upon the kindness of members to submit the photos they took throughout the year at rendezvous and races and events. And as everyone knows, when the yearbooks are distributed at the Spring Party, the first thing people look at are the photos -- especially to see if they, or people they know, are included. So, please do send your photos to me and to our photo editor, Bob Bennett. Email addresses below.

Stories for the Yearbook - It's not just about photos, calendars, and the membership list. In case you haven't noticed in yearbooks past, there are stories about racing and cruising off the Bay, about the history of the club's traditions, and also personal stories of interest to our members. Do you have a story to tell that would resonate with your fellow sailors? Or even an idea for a story that you think others would like to hear? Send me an email or give me a call! Even if you don't think of yourself as a writer, I will be more than happy to help you get that story down on paper so that the rest of us can enjoy it. Next Meeting: Tuesday, January 12. In the meantime, see you all at the Boatyard Party!

Racing on the Bay is all but over this year. Participation overall was poor compared to previous years, but without new members coming into the club to try racing, and the poor scheduling of races around the Bay, it's just inevitable the turnout would be low. A long term trend. I also look around and see a few boats racing with crew that would normally have sailed their own boats. Hopefully next year, those who have their own boat might start up again. I don't know what we can do to get more boats racing, but if we don't do something soon; we might end up racing model boats in the lake at Babylon Town Hall. The Bay Shore Races have been poorly attended as well this year, but as of late, Gary Sebouhian started up some informal races with the few boats in that area and managed to get a 4 boat fleet to go around the buoys for fun on Tuesday nights. Maybe that is the answer, just sail around.

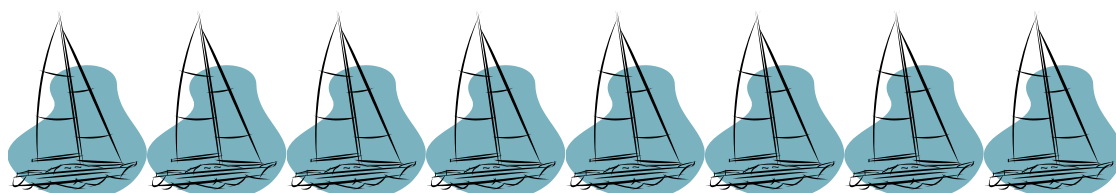

Last month we had the Foulke Trophy Race which turned out to be a great event. Excellent sailing conditions and a new course gave a much needed boost to this race. I would like to thank the Babylon Yacht Club once again for the generous use of the yacht club porch and docking. It might have been our best sailing event of the year. Thanks to all who helped with the food and clean up.

A few of our members (Paul Rendich, Chris Sicignano, and Jim Reichel) headed out east for some sailing action around Greenport and Shelter Island and report back that sailing is alive and well out there. They managed to help bring home some silver with podium finishes in the Fall, Off Soundings Event in a J /109 they tried out and discovered that 100 boat fleets, One Design sailing is still around because of a thriving competitive spirit. Yacht Clubs out there all work together to make a race venue worthy of the effort to sail in it. Out east is a great place to sail, and our club members do quite well out there when they compete.

As we put this year behind us, we need to get some new leadership on the Regatta Committee. Please give me some ideas or comments of what went right or wrong so I can pass that on to the next Regatta Chairman. Please step up and volunteer, make suggestions, or even lead the committee as chairman as no one has stepped up yet. It's not an easy job, but thanks to all the support of our race committee members, it's not that hard.

Race results and Series Scoring will be made available shortly on the website and possibly an early December Awards Dinner to cap off the year.

More on that as soon as I know more. --Aileen

What a BEAUTIFUL October we've had with some GR8 winds and some GR8 sailing. Although I know a few of you have already hauled your boats, Joe and I hope to hold out for as long as we can, but you all know we HATE the cold weather.

We did get some GR8 sailing in this month, and we've had some beautiful days going to the empty Fire Island beaches this time of year. It's GR8 being over there with no one else, especially at Atlantique, nothing like during our One-Week Bay Cruise.

And though being alone over there is wonderful, meeting up with friends is GR8 too. We recently sailed over to Watch Hill on a 70 degree sunny day with our friends, only to find Jim & Trudy Persson hanging out at the dock. We all walked up to see the beach and then walked all through the trails to see some beautiful fall foliage. Afterwards, we could not resist having a small rendezvous before Joe and I headed home with our friends, while Jim & Trudy stayed the night so Jim could catch the big one the next morning.

So even though the season is supposedly over, it's not over just yet!!

We had a GR8 turnout at the BSYC Halloween bash, and a good time was had by all who attended. GR8 costumes everyone! Check it out. I'm thinking of keeping the pink hair!!

We hope to see you all at the Annual Boatyard Party on November 7th. This is always a lot of fun, so hope you RSVP to get the discount price. The food is always good, and the hot toddies are the BEST!!! We even have a dessert contest – YUM!! Don't forget the Salty Sam where you can not only buy some cool stuff, but you can clean out your garage as well and get rid of some stuff. I know there will be two of Christy Edwards prints available that she donated. Very kew!!!

Hope to see you all at the Boatyard Party!!

Before purchasing our sailboat, Bleu Moon this past winter, my husband and I would usually do one big trip with our boat during the summer months. Since it was a powerboat we were always reluctant to travel to unknown waters thinking that if we spent gas money on the trip it had to be a perfect experience. Since purchasing our Tartan 37, it has given us the freedom to explore new territories. So this past fall we decided to leave a few days after Labor Day and head to Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey. Atlantic Highlands in its day was the place to escape to for the rich and famous such as Frank Sinatra. We had a clear weather window with no rain in sight, just warm weather and blue skies. We decided to leave one morning and had a 13 to 15 knot north wind to sail us right out Fire Island Inlet into the ocean, all the way into the Lower Bay of New York Harbor then into the Jersey area.

We arrived on a Friday late afternoon and decided to get a mooring since we wanted to explore the Atlantic Highlands Yacht Club and use their facilities. The moorings are located right inside the breakwater; you can see all the masts. You can also drop a hook here beyond the mooring field with good holding. Upon arriving to Atlantic Highlands you will notice there is a huge low lying land mass to the left known as Sandy Hook. There is plenty to do there from biking, swimming and exploring. The oldest working lighthouse in the US, Sandy Hook Lighthouse, is also worth a visit.

We took the launch in and ordered a drink at the bar. Before long we had people saying hello to us not recognizing us as members of this club. So we explained that we just sailed there from the south shore of Long Island and we are members of SBCC (South Bay Cruising Club). Of course the questions started and we had a wonderful time talking to so many people. Before long one of the couples invited us to have dinner with them and their group. It seems Friday night is the night that the club is the busiest with all club members meeting for dinner unwinding after a long week. The members then all chipped in and paid for our meal. They were also discussing a pursuit race the next day and told us some boats may need some help and take on crew. So we met the next morning for the captains meeting and were ready to sail on a Tartan 35. There was a new member of the club who just purchased an O' Day 35 and had his crew backed out at the last minute. So we were recruited to race on the O' Day, for an 18 mile race in the Lower Bay under the view of the Manhattan skyline. We had such a great race with 25 knot winds out of the southwest and at least 20 boats. After the race we all met back at the yacht club for a drink and some talk and a lot of laughs.

The next few days we wanted to explore this area on foot. The harbor is a beautiful setting with a view of the NYC skyline in the distance. To your left, you overlook the Highlands with all stunning houses nestled into the hills. We walked up into the hill area and overlooked the harbor, what a view! It seems that this area is a stopover for boaters heading south for the winter and also sailing from the north shore of Long Island and the northeast coast. Since we were here in September, plenty of sailboats were dropping the hook, loaded with supplies for their travelling adventures. There is a quaint downtown area within walking distance with several restaurants, BBQ eatery, ice cream shoppe, movie theater, laundromat, and local shops. There is also a supermarket close by. There is one restaurant that looks over the harbor called, "The Deck", a nice place to get a bite to eat and a fresh beer on tap and relax. The dinner at the yacht club Friday night was also delicious and very reasonably priced.

For the walkers and bikers there is a trail that runs along the shoreline, about 2 miles long. It is easy to access, just head left from the yacht club and you will see a sign for the trail. All the marina facilities are new here with floating docks, benches to sit on and even a playground. The area really took a big hit from Superstorm Sandy in 2012 and in some locations you can still see the destruction. There is also a high speed Ferry that goes over to NYC, if you'd like to see the sights. What made this trip great were the people of Atlantic Highlands Yacht Club. Warm, friendly people ready to help out, give advice or talk about sailing. If you haven't been here yet, it's worth a cruise, just 6 to 8 hours from our south shore of Long Island and a great place for a fall destination. Sea Ya There!!

PUMPOUT STATUS

It was easier this time. It appears that they will be increasing daily operating hours from 5 to 10, making Atlantique land station more easily accessible for self-service, as well as looking for additional locations.

Did You Know

This year marks the 35th year of ex-Beatle John Lennon's life altering trip to Bermuda just months before his death. As long Islanders we are historically tied into John's learning to sail on Long Island and his Bermuda sailing adventure. He was living on Long Island overlooking Long Island Sound and became fascinated with sailing, and he purchased a small 14' sailboat from Coney's Marine in Huntington, NY. He learned to sail from Tyler Coney, and Tyler and his brother Kevin Coney, accompanied Lennon on the Bermuda adventure. John was at a low point in his career, and was having writers block for new songs. The trip was by his description "life altering" and energized him to write new material for an album called Double Fantasy. John was assigned the duties of ships cook for the trip. I will attach a link of a description of the voyage.

Tyler and Kevin are still living locally; I met them last year but had no idea of their connection to John Lennon. Tyler has spoken about the trip at a north shore yacht club based in Huntington. We might be able to get him to speak for us. The log book from the trip is coming up for auction.

Dear Ed, Charlie, and Joel,

I wanted to acknowledge your recent emails and let you know that we are working to address your concerns. I received this information after I submitted my tentative budget to the Town Board, but prior to this past Tuesday's meeting when I offered an amendment to my budget that adds funding for additional hours for the pumpout boat for the next boating season. The amendment was approved and included in the preliminary budget for next year that will be eligible for adoption after the Public hearing at our November budget meeting.

Also, at a meeting with Parks and DPW staff this morning, I asked Commissioner Owens to have his staff research appropriate locations for the Town to add additional pumpout stations at our marinas to be operational next Spring.

Thank you for your work on this issue...together we can make a difference.

Regards,

Angie

Hi, This is Lisa Donatelli, SBCC associate member and singer in the South Bay Salty Dogs. My husband Dan and I are sailors based in Manhasset Bay on the LI Sound. We are getting a larger sailboat and would like to sell our current boat, for which we love and care. My husband knows every inch of this boat like the back of his hand and reworked and improved many of the systems. I believe we were the 3rd owners; we have had her for 15 years.

Name "Steel Sky": $19,500.

Pearson 303 Sloop

Draw: 4'8", fin keel

Beam 12" Length 30'

Built in 1983, very good condition

Yanmar diesel engine

Belowdecks:

Very roomy, great storage. Lights throughout.

Fore: V berth with custom steps, shelf and cubbies

Full electric/manual head with y valve, sink, handheld shower, electric drain

Salon: 2 couches that convert to 2 single beds, folding table for 4, storage, kitchenette area

Sleeps 5 comfortably. Light and airy inside thanks to two large overhead and 4 side ports.

AM/FM/USB radio with custom cockpit speakers; wall mounted TV with dvd player

Custom wood storage cabinets above couches, teak interior trim. Beige privacy curtains.

Salon Aft: Kitchenette area (to port): sink with faucet and foot pump; icebox, alcohol stove, storage.

Salon Aft: (starboard): Quarterberth, lazarettes

Salon aft center: engine access under hatch ladder

Lots of handholds

Abovedecks:

Roomy cockpit with cushions, built in cubbies, custom captain's chair, port lazarette

Standard instrumentation, full wheel

Swim ladder

Traveler on track in cockpit, easy to single hand sail

Dutchman system on mainsail, jib roller furling

Sails in good condition

Bimini, dodger, connector, mainsail cover.

Danforth anchor

Points very well and performs in light and heavy winds. Sturdy yet exciting to sail. Very comfortable cruiser.
